

The Owensville Outlook.

VOL. XX.

OWINGVILLE, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1898.

NO. 6.

Notice to Taxpayers.

The taxpayers of Bath county are hereby notified that the tax for the year 1898 have been made out and placed in my hands. You are therefore notified to call at my office and settle.

J. M. ARNISON, S. R. C.

The public school at the Seminary opens next Monday.

Henry Ginter died of consumption near Preston Monday night.

Remember the Administrator's sale of the stock, farming implements, etc., of the late Joseph Swann, at the residence Sept. 24. 31

J. N. and R. R. Swann have qualified as administrators of the estate of their father, the late John J. Swann.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY Take Laxative Broom Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

Born, Tuesday night, Aug. 24, to Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Tinsley, of Upper Prickly Ash, a daughter.

More and better goods at Cross & Thompson's for your money than any place in town.

L. M. Butcher was delighted to find that John A. Ramsey had in safe-keeping the $15 he advertised as lost.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.—In order to close up my old business, I desire all who are indebted to me to call and settle at once. R. T. GAULT.

Hon. A. W. Bascom sold on the Cincinnati breaks last week 12 hds. of tobacco at average of $10.30 per hundred pounds.

Remember the place. See the flag in "the pocket."

CROSS & THOMPSON.

Elder Tinsley returned Friday night from Crab Orchard, where he had been holding a protracted meeting. He reports a good meeting, with eleven additions to the church.

The only place in town that uses the words "extraordinary values" for your money is Cross & Thompson's.

Last year during the drouth a rain fell on the last Sunday in August, and no more rain fell until Oct. 29th.

New store, new goods, new men! Remember the Maine—object. See Cross & Thompson before you buy if you want goods at the right prices.

Felix Warren, of Craig, has had his pension increased from $8 to $10 per month. In same vicinity, Alfred H. Withrow has had a raise of his $10 per month pension.

All executors, administrators and guardians who have not settled with the court for two years must call at once and make settlements under penalty of law.

WM. G. RAMSEY, Judge.

James W. Emmons, of Reynolds, sold his 80-acre farm and storehouse to Mart Donaldson at a price not divulged. Jim will go to reside with his father, Daniel B. Emmons.

We are manufacturing Brick and Draining Tile. You can get any quality you desire. Your order is solicited.

GEORGE CHEAT & SON, Salt Lick, Ky.

FIRE IN MT. STERLING.—Mt. Sterling has been suffering severely from fire of supposed incendiary origin recently. On Sunday night a dozen or more residences burned down along Railroad street.

CORN MILL.—I have bought Clark Croucher's corn mill in town. Regular grinding days are Friday and Saturday. Meal exchanged for corn at any time my customers bring it.

S. P. ATCHISON.

The officers of the Christian Church here are to be congratulated in securing the services of Elder Eubelt, of Louisville, to conduct the protracted meeting that begins September 12th. Our information is that he is one of the ablest divines in the State.

The Seventh Kentucky Cavalry of the Federal Army in the Civil War will have a reunion at the Superior Court Room, No. 1, Cincinnati Court-house, Sept. 6th, 1898, during the National G. A. R. encampment.

Mrs. JAMES GILLON DEAD.—Mrs. James Gillon had a surgical operation performed at the Good Samaritan Hospital, Cincinnati, Tuesday at noon, from which she died at 8 o'clock that night. Her body was brought here Wednesday night and buried at the Owensville Cemetery today (Thursday). Her brother W. L. Nixon went Tuesday night to accompany her body home.

J. B. Goodpastor sold to H. C. Mead the 118-acre "Mrs. Ann Wilson" farm on purchased of Milton P. Stephens on upper Slate Creek. The price received was $3,100 cash. Curran Crouch, Mr. Mead's brother-in-law, will reside on and operate the farm.

Elder T. S. Tinsley will preach at Harper's school-house every night next week, in this way preceding Elder H. N. Reubelt's meeting, which begins here Sept. 12th. The first sermon will be at Harper's school-house next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

STRAINED.—From the pasture of G. W. Kerr, near Salt Lick, Aug. 26, a 4-year old harness-marked brown horse. Reasonable reward for information that will lead to his recovery. C. W. SHULTZ, Salt Lick, Ky.

Clay Donnan is limping and carrying his arm in a sling, caused by a mule running off and throwing him out of his buggy Wednesday of last week down on the pike between the Forge Mill and his farm. The vehicle was not injured.

T. S. Shrovet will not be under sold: Hardwood Bedsteads, $14.00; Hardwood Safes, $2.50; 3-plate Case seat Penitentiary Chairs, 55c; Ladies' Oak Sewing Rockers, $1; Bed Springs, $2; Cotton-top Mattresses, $2.50; Extension Tables 60c per foot; Solid Oak Dressers, $7.50. Everything else in proportion. Cash or credit. 5 per cent off for cash.

INJURED BY A FALL.—Joseph H. Richard fell off of a step ladder last Thursday morning on his left shoulder, breaking two or more of his ribs. He was in his yard drawing with the crook of his cane a limb of a fruit tree having on it a nest of caterpillars when the fall occurred. He is suffering very much and will likely be confined to his room for some days. He is eighty-three years old.

Dr. Gidzell, of this town, requested Dr. Louis H. Landman, of No. 503 W. 9th St., Cincinnati, to come to Owensville for a day or two to consult with him about his patients suffering from eye troubles; also to adjust proper glasses. He will be at the Corner House Friday, Sept. 9th, and remain over Sunday.

BATH COUNTY FISCAL COURT.

Called Term, August 23d, 1898.

It is ordered that all overseers of the public roads of the county, and holders of claims for work done on county roads, shall file the same for inspection with the magistrates of their respective districts.

It is ordered that the Clerk of this Court have published in all newspapers in the county the above order.

A copy. Attest: J. T. PETERS, Clerk.

By T. J. PETERS, D. C.

DIED'S ESCAPE.—Tuesday evening of last week, after THE ORETOO'S forms were made up, Henry Gibson, who stole Gould Clark's mare and is in jail awaiting a trial for the same, attacked Jesse Jackson, son of the jailer, with a piece of iron wrenched off of the cell work. Jesse was in the jail doing his customary work. Gibson struck him on the head and knocked him to his knees. As Jesse arose Gibson again struck and knocked him down. Gibson fled out of jail and Jesse after him. Jesse caught him in a sprint of about 100 yards, knocked him down and pounded him a bit. He then returned him to jail.

ODONTUNDER.—Fredonia, N. Y., Aug. 19th, 1898.—We, the Odontunder Mfg. Co., of Fredonia, N. Y., wish to inform the people of Bath Co., Ky., that Drs. Phillips & Reeves, of Wyoming, are the only dentists in that county who are authorized to use Odontunder, as they have the exclusive control there and we furnish it only to them. We find dentists often claim to have Odontunder when they are using some other preparation as they know Odontunder is well and favorably known. Resp.,

ODONTUNDER MFG. CO.

INCENDIARISM.—Last Friday night some one or more persons set fire to and burned down the toll-house on the Preston & Howard's Mill turnpike. Millard Staten, the gate-keeper, saved only a part of his household goods. Some years ago a stock company undertook to build this road from Preston to Montgomery Co. line, but failed to complete the pike for lack of funds.

James A. Anderson in consideration of a 9-years lease of toll rights contracted to finish the road and did so. After three years he subleased it to Millard Staten for the remaining six years for $500.

THE SICK.—J. M. Reynolds has had two or three colds, but was a little better Tuesday.

John E. Fleming, of Upper Prickly Ash, is slowly improving.

Jo B. Latham, of lower Prickly Ash, is still very sick with fever.

R. S. Estill is still about the same with typhoid fever. His wife is somewhat improved of her choleraic ailment.

Mrs. Felix Tackett, of Upper Prickly Ash, has a severe case of typhoid fever.

Ben Jones, of Washington Branch, is not so well as he was.

CHURCH SCHOON THREATENED.—Rev. H. C. Morrison, the evangelist of the M. E. Church, South, has withdrawn his membership from that church because since he has embraced the "holiness" or "sanctification" doctrine of a faction he is not allowed the liberty in preaching that he desires. The "holiness" doctrine promises to make a schism in the church. It has become quite an issue in many sections. It is rumored that the question will be brought up in the Flomingsburg Conference with reference to sending a "holiness" minister to this place for the ensuing year. Pastor Bromley is an adherent of the holiness doctrine, but it seems that the far larger part of the membership here rejects it.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.—The Bath Co. Teachers' Institute, after a highly successful session, closed Friday afternoon. As an Institute conductor Prof. C. T. Cherry ranks with the ablest, and his wife proved an assistant of high value and an entertainer of rare charm. Mrs. Cherry did not give her entertaining Wednesday night owing to the rain, but postponed it until Friday night, when a large audience attended and was pleased to the limit by her Delsartian roles, readings and recitations. A portion of the proceeds of ticket sales to her entertainment was donated to the public school library fund.

$1,200 STOCK AT AUCTION SALE.—We will on Thursday, 8th day of September, 1898, sell our entire stock of goods at Reynoldsville, consisting of dry goods and groceries, boots, shoes, notions, tinware, harness, etc., etc., a fine lot of ladies' and misses' shoes, calicos, cottons, and in fact, everything kept in a general store. We have determined to quit the mercantile business, and everything in the store will be sold. From now until day of sale we will sell for cash at vast prices.

Terms: All sums of five dollars and under, cash; sums over that amount on a credit of 90 days, the purchaser to give a negotiable note payable at the Farmers Bank. This sale will continue from day to day until everything is sold. Everybody especially invited.

J. W. EMMONS, N. R. EMMONS, M. D. FAIR, Auctioneer. 6-21

MARIE HENDRIX'S DEATH.—Marie Hendrix died of typhoid fever at last house, four miles from Paris, last Thursday and was buried Friday at Longview Cemetery, Bethel. Deceased was aged 43 years.

He was a native of this county, a son of Abraham Hendrix, of East Fork of Flat Creek, and a brother of Moses T. and Frank P. Hendrix.

Mrs. P. M. Vies and Mrs. Jacob Royd, all of Bethel and Sherrubee neighborhoods. He resided a good portion of his life in the same section of Bath, then removed to Bourbon county. His wife is a daughter of the late Alfred Vanlandingham. She, two sons and two daughters survive. Mr. Hendrix was an enterprising and successful farmer, and stood high as a good and useful citizen. He leaves a valuable estate to his family. THE OUTLOOK extends its sympathy to the bereaved family and relatives.

PARALYZED.—Lafayette, Indiana, Aug. 25.—Ex-Governor Claude Matthews, while delivering the principal address at the Old Settlers' meeting at Shawnee Mound, south of this city, was suddenly stricken with paralysis. Governor Matthews had been speaking about an hour, when he remarked to some one on the platform that he was experiencing an unusual physical sensation, and abruptly finished his address. He then sank into a chair, succeeded in crossing the right leg over the left, and in endeavoring to change his position discovered he could not lift his right leg. He fell from the chair and became unconscious, being later removed to the residence of Isaac Meharry, where two physicians are in attendance. Dr. Allman, of Wingate, and Dr. Olin, of Elmdale. The patient is pronounced to be in a critical condition, is in a deep stupor, unable to speak or move. The cause of the stroke was a ruptured blood vessel in the left side of the brain. Governor Matthews has of late been residing on his farm in Vermillion county, and has apparently been in good health.

See third page of this issue for account of ex-Gov. Matthews' death.

Claude Matthews was a son of Major Thomas A. Matthews. His mother was Miss Eliza A. Fletcher, a granddaughter of Gen. Thomas J. Fletcher, a soldier of the war of 1812 and a resident of this county near Sharpsburg. Major Matthews was in business at Bethel, where Claude was born. The father afterwards traveled for the Cincinnati firm of Woodside, Green & Labaroe and was a man of marked magnetism and popularity. Claude's mother died while he was small and he came to reside with his uncle James Thomas, of this town.

Mr. Thomas married Miss Mary Barnes, who after the decease of Mr. Thomas became the wife of Joseph H. Richard. Mrs. Richard, who still survives, had the care and training of Claude until he became old enough to set out for himself. He received his education in the schools here and always regarded Mrs. Richard as a second mother, and his family making her visits from time to time. He left here shortly after the Civil War and located in Indiana. On Jan. 7th, 1868, he married Miss Martha R. Whitcomb, daughter of ex-Gov. James Whitcomb, of that State, also U. S. Senator. Gov. Matthews followed farming, owning a large estate. He was a Democrat and was elected as Democratic nominee to the important office he held. In 1896 he was pushed by Indiana for the Presidential nomination at Chicago. He warmly advocated Bryan and free silver on the stump in the memorable campaign. Personally he was highly regarded by the friends of his youth in this town and they all took a pride in his eminent career. To Mrs. Richard no doubt the death comes as a personal bereavement as great as the loss of a son.

FROM THE WEST.—Drexel, Cass Co., Mo., August 27th.—Mr. Editor: I have many dear friends and relations that are readers of your paper. I thought perhaps they would like to hear from us out here in the West.

I am a daughter of Lou Ann P. Bailey. She married William L. Corbin. She is a widow and lives in Marion, Mo. He died Jan. 20, 1895. Ma often speaks of the dear ones there. My name was Lucy J. Corbin, now Burris. I was mostly raised in old Bath near White Oak Church. How pleasant are the thoughts of that little white church among the trees, where uncles, aunts and cousins were wont to assemble. Some of the dear ones have gone home. How sad, but such is life. It is the desire of my heart to visit again the home of my childhood, but other things take up my time.

We live near Drexel, Cass Co., Mo. This is a very pretty country, and we have splendid prospects, which began about the first of Sep. We have very good prospects for corn. Flax is a good crop. It is raised for the seed and stock at the low after it is threshed. Oats are light. Grass is good; lots of hay; gardens good; water-melons fine; plenty of grapes, but no other kind of fruit to mention to anything. The farmers' wives miss the big red apples, and so do the boys. Most people here have cultivated blackberries; set them out and cultivate them.

This country has improved very fast in the last ten years. Uncle Si Corbin when he was out thought homes were so far apart. I like the West.

Oh, yes, I have just had a visit from my cousin Alvin A. Williams and her two sons Wayne and Thurman from Bath Co. I had not seen her for 20 years. She said she would have known me anywhere. We were so glad to see her; almost seem like a visit back there. We have been visiting and driving around for two weeks; have 2 mineral wells closed and have drank from both. We were going to the reunion at Austin and it rained us out. That is 20 miles away. How pleasant it is to talk over old times and hear from old friends.

Well, I will quit for this time. If this misses the waste-basket I may write again some time.

Lucy J. BURRIS.

FROM A SOLDIER BOY.—Montauk Point, Long Island, New York, Aug. 26th, 1898.—Mr. and Mrs. Rathbun: Dear Father and Mother: I thought I would write you a few lines to let you all know how I made my trip. I had one of the finest trips that I ever expect to see again; had a party of over a thousand miles, and now I am over six-hundred miles from home. I will explain my trip: First we got on the train at Ft. Sheridan and came to Chicago, Ill.; stopped there fifteen minutes, and from there to Cleveland, Ohio, on to Sandusky, on to Toledo, Buffalo, N. Y., and then to the large city of New York; took a transport to Brooklyn and passed under the largest bridge in America, one of the longest bridges—Brooklyn bridge; passed some of the fine war vessels and three of the second-class Spanish vessels that had been captured July last; saw British vessels, and the seamen did something that we will never see again; they dipped their colors. That means they are with us forever.

We are situated on one of the finest points in America. The Government rents it from the Montauk tribe, gives fifteen thousand dollars a year for one half of it, and the tribe stays on the other half. I guess there are seven thousand in number.

Well, I will tell you something about Shafter's army. There are about twenty-two thousand troops here now, cavalry mostly. We are the only infantry in camp. There will be about forty thousand here in two weeks. I think we will take a transport for Cuba. We can't tell yet. I will write to you when we move, but we won't move for thirty days yet.

I guess you received the ten dollars I sent you. I saved some to travel on. Will send all of the rest home. I suppose Walter May had the girls down home. I hope they had a nice time.

Mama, I saw some of the boys from Cuba while ago. They are a horrid race. Mama, I actually felt sorry for them. And I saw some of the boys I know from Catlettsburg. You have no idea how they did look. Mama, when one met me he lay down and cried like a baby. Mama, I couldn't keep from crying to save my life. He had his hat shot off of his head just as he jumped over the boardwalk and he said "I guess my head will go next;" had his cañon shot off of his side and the ball passed on and killed his comrade behind him. Out of one company there are only 22 left, out of ninety-four men. He said they killed six hundred in twenty minutes, and lost one hundred and ten men in the battle. I could write enough to fill a newspaper if I could get the time.

The ocean is on three sides of this camp, and one of the prettiest lakes right in the center of the point has all kinds of fish in it. It has eels, bass and several kinds.

There are over seven thousand in the hospital here now. I saw Will McCue, Mr. Jim McCue's boy. He just got back from Cuba. He was a private, but has been commissioned to Second Lieutenantship. It pays one hundred and sixteen dollars a month. I was so glad that he got a promotion. He only saw one sick day while he was in Cuba. He will get a furlough and come home before long, and I will send something by him. I can't write to any one else now, for I can't get any more stamps at present.

We are just one hundred and sixty-two miles from New York city, on a very nice island, but it rains every day. There is every disease that can be named—mostly chills. It rains hard for an hour and then the sun comes out terrible hot.

Well, I will write more some other time. Give grandpa and grandpa and all of my relations my love. Tell Walter May howdy, and Earl James and Mattie, and kiss little Elizabeth for me. Save a large portion for yourself. Yes, tell Uncle Newt howdy for me; Uncle Sam and Aunt Mollie's people howdy.

I have forty-one men working under me, and it is a hard job to keep them a-working, for they are about worn out.

Good bye, with a kiss. From your devoted son, GUY H. RATHBUN, Co. B, 1st Batt., 24 Regt. U. S. V. E.

Reitzel are friends of his, and will take in Washington City before they return home. Mr. Runnels will visit relatives for a couple of weeks.

Scraps.

RYALERT.—"What were those two men shooting at each other for?" asked the tenderfoot of the constable, in a new Kansas village.

"They disputed over which had done the most to improve the good morals of the town."—EX.

HER PRAYER.—A Denver poet closed her prayer with "God bless papa and mama and Dewey and Shafter and Sedley and Sampson and Teddy Terrors, and I wouldn't be hard on poor Admiral Cervera if I were you."—EX.

JUST A SUGGESTION.—"Do you believe in the saying that 'Man proposes and God disposes'?" she asked.

"Of course," he replied.

"Then I should think you would do your share," she suggested.

Shortly thereafter everything was arranged satisfactorily.—Chicago Post.

STRONG INDUCEMENT.—Sunday-school Teacher—Yes, Robert, only good little boys go to heaven. I suppose you would like to go there, wouldn't you?

Tough Scholar.—You bet I would! I'd have an eternal cinch slugging dem softies!—Puck.

PEANUT JOKES.—Hoax—I understand the government's buying up the entire peanut crop.

Joax.—What's the idea?

Hoax.—They're going to use the kernels in the army and the shells in the navy.—Philadelphia Record.

WASN'T IN IT.—Mamma—First you said you were in a fight, and now you say you weren't.

Willie.—Dat's right; you see I was licked!—Up to Date.

OLD, INDEED!—Maria—Did he ask you the old, old question?

Sarepta.—Yes, indeed! Almost his first words were "Is it hot enough for you?"—Puck.

AN EASY VICTIM.—"Buck, I want yer darter," said Five-Acre Plunkley, as he took a drop on the old gentleman.

"She's your'n, an' I must say yer darter's put what's put up yer kind of argument," Detroit Free Press.

OPPORTUNITIES.—"When I came to this town, eighteen years ago," said the leading citizen, "I had only thirty cents in my pocket."

"However," the Town Cynic kindly added, "there were other pockets."—Indianapolis Journal.

RETRIBUTION. [Chicago News.] There was a man in our town who posed as quite a wit. And when a question he was asked He always answered "Nit."

One day he met his Waterloo In a maiden dressed in pink; He asked her if she'd marry him; She answered, "I don't think."

A Dovesque Orator.—Necessity is the mother of invention, and a hungry Frenchman illustrates the old adage anew.

He was in an English restaurant and wanted eggs for breakfast, but had forgotten the English word. So he got around the difficulty in the following way:

"Vatterre, vat is dat valking in de yard?"

"A cock, sir."

"Ah! And vat you call de cock's wife?"

"A hen, sir."

"And vat you call de children of de cock and his wife?"

"Chickens, sir."

"But vat you call de chicken before dey are chicken?"

"Eggs, sir."

"Bring me two."
